MOKENA, WILL COUNTY, ILLINOIS THURSDAY, AUGUST 18, 1949

Subscription $2.50 per year

The above picture shows the second Mokena public school building which was erected in 1872 at a cost of $10,000. This building was in use until 1930. Later on it was sold to Lester Schieck of Mokena who tore it down and used the lumber in the construction of several new homes. The school yard is now vacant and is being used as a storage yard for road machines.

A scene from a former Homecoming celebration. Ferris Wheels do not change with the years. They're just as "modern" today as when they were invented. The only change is the riders . . . when the older folks become "kids" again.

IT WAS over 127 years ago when the early white men came to what is now Mokena, when old Chief Moke and his braves roamed the fertile prairies.

It was in 1832 to be exact that the pioneers began their trek to the Will county territory to buy government land for $1.00 an acre. Most of the Indians lived along streams and even today arrow heads, stone hatchets, and other relics of Indian lore can be found upon searching in the fields adjacent to Hickory Creek south of Mokena.

At first only a few scattered log cabins marked the beginning of Mokena. It was not until the early fifties that the village was platted by John McGovney and in a few years various additions were added to the original village site. It was not until 1880 that the village was incorporated.

Ten years ago the Mokena Civic club sponsored the first Mokena Homecoming and harvest festival. It was so successful that it has become an annual affair.

This year Mokena again welcomes visitors and old friends. This big event is expected to bring the biggest crowd on our Front street ever to be congregated.

In 1878 a Will county historian described Mokena as a neat and tasty little town. The description still fits to a "T". Nestled in picturesque setting of rolling green prairie and farmland this neat little town with its elm-flanked streets and its small gracious little homes, bears the distinction of being one of the most prosperous communities of its size in America.

In Mokena one finds neither mansions or slums . . . neither cops nor crime nor indigents. In Mokena the railroad runs smack down the main street of the town and buildings on both sides of the tracks—both business and residential—face the tracks squarely, proudly, and without apology. For in Mokena there is no "other side of the tracks."

Old timers say that Mokena is named after a great Indian Chief but according to the Chicago Historical society, Mokena is the Algonquin name for "turtle." But how odd that the name of the village couldn't be translated as "Peaceful Valley" for the fact that the village is located only about 35 miles from Chicago, a suburb in fact, one getting off from the train at our spic and span brand new depot has the feeling that he is a million miles from nowhere . . . Ah, yes, it is a "peaceful valley." . . . Except during August when folks that have lived in the community in years gone by come back home for the annual Homecoming celebration.

Within these colored pages old timers will find pictures of perhaps themselves or old friends. Those new in the village will no doubt find them interesting to see what their new home used to look like and to make comparisons as to the changes made and the progressiveness of the community as a whole.

The publisher and staff of this newspaper, as well as the Homecoming committee, the village fathers and the entire citizenship at large, bid you welcome during these three days of our celebration and invite residents of other towns and cities to consider making Mokena your home!

HAVE FUN—EVERYBODY!

Mokena has had quite a number of bands in its day, but in 1904 the Mokena Cornet Band was a very active musical group and played at local functions and celebrations. The above taken in 1904 on the old Rock Island depot grounds in Mokena shows the following members of the band. Reading left to right: Elmer Voss, Walter Voss, Paul Rinke, Christ Kohl, Frank Hirsch, Jr., Ben Mager, Henry Leonhardt, Frank Knudson, Christ Hohenstein, Joe Kohl, Erhardt Oswald and Henry Stellwagen.

MOKENA CAMP FIRE GIRLS STAGED PARADE IN 1916 In March 1911, the Moke Camp Fire Girls were organized under the sponsorship of Mrs. Emma Bechstein. On July 4, 1916 they sponsored a parade in connection with the Mokena Men's club. The above picture shows the late William Bechstein driving his new Ford, one of the first automobiles in Mokena, leading the parade. Seated with him is the group's guardian, Mrs. Margaret Semmler. In the rear seat left to right, are the late Mrs. Carrie Cappel Hurley, Mrs. Alma Bechstein Cooper and Mrs. Ruth Niethammer Schneider.

The above picture of a class of students who attended the Mokena public school when O. C. Harrower was the principal, was taken about 69 years ago. While some of the students shown have passed away, others are still living, some in and around Mokena. Top row: Henry Turner, Charles Kennedy, Emil Krapp, George Reabe, Immanuel Schaub, George Kennedy, William Turner, James Brennan, Richard Hensel. Second row: John Schubert, Harry Brown, Frank Schubert, James Turner, Arthur Hensel, Charles Schenkel, Peter Smith, Knapp. 3rd row: Lena Weaver, Bell Jones, Anna Smith, Louisa Krapp, Jessie McGovney, Ada McGovney, Hannah Schacht. 4th row: Emma Minger, Jennie Hatch, Clara Staley, Amelia Weber, Lena Bauch, Minnie Schacht, Lizzie Jorndt, Katie Staley, Lizzie Trier, John Schweser, Heman Allen, Otto Hensel, O. C. Harrower, principal.

IN THE PIONEER DAYS OF MOKENA

Mokena Was A Trading Center For Settlers

The original village of Mokena was laid out in 1852 but was not incorporated until 1880. Previous to this it was a pioneer settlement, the earliest settlers arriving in 1831.

According to available history, Mokena was laid out by Allen Denny before the Rock Island railroad was fully completed. Shortly afterward an addition was made to the original village by John McGovney, which was surveyed by A. J. Matthewson, then surveyor of Will county.

Knapp and Smith are said to have erected the first building in the village. This structure was used for the double purpose of store and dwelling and they were the first merchants in Mokena.

The first hotel was built by Chas. Gail in 1853 and was the next building put up after Knapp and Smith's store which had been erected in the winter of 1851-52.

Wm. McCoy built the first blacksmith shop in the winter of 1853-54.

The first post-office was established in the village in the spring of 1853 and Warren Knapp was the first postmaster, receiving his commission soon after the inauguration of President Pierce.

Ozias McGovney bought out Smith of the firm of Knapp & Smith and the firm became Knapp & McGovney and so continued for a number of years. They were the first grain buyers and bought from wagons and loaded the grain into the railroad cars without the aid of elevators.

Along in 1855 Cross & Jones built a steam mill and about in 1865 took out the machinery and shipped it to Kansas. The mill building was later changed into the Mokena elevator by Charles Hirsch who was the only grain dealer in Mokena for a number of years. Noble Jones speculated in grain and maintained an office in Mokena, but did most of his business on the Board of Trade in Chicago.

The first school house was built in 1855 and was a small frame costing $1,000.00. James Pierce was the first school teacher. In 1872 a substantial two-story frame with stone foundation school house was erected and together with equipment cost $10,000.00.

Mrs. Sarah Baldwin was the first principal in the new school and was assisted by Miss Swalm and Miss Clara Williams, the latter teaching in the primary room.

The village had a steady growth and in 1859 the St. John Evangelical church was built during the pastorate of Rev. Charles Meyer. The edifice was a frame building and cost $1,500.00. At a later period Rev. C. Schaub was the pastor of this church and E. Oswald was the Superintendent of the Snuday School.

The present St. Mary's Catholic church was built in 1864 under the labors of Father Fasbender and cost $1,400.00. The building contractor was a Mr. Polman of Mokena.

The Mokena Methodist church was built in 1868. The congregation was organized several years previous and held their church services in a school house. The edifice was used every other Sunday by the Baptists. Rev. J. B. Dibell was the pastor of this congregation since 1851 with the exception of two years.

Mokena was a decidedly flourishing town in 1878 when the village boasted five general stores, two hardware stores, two drug stores, two blacksmith shops, two wagon shops, two harness shops, three hotels, one furniture store, three millinery stores, two butcher shops, grain buyers, seven saloons and two physicians. Drs. Alexander and Joy.

From this historical sketch it will be noted that Mokena at that period was far more prosperous than it is today. At that time Mokena was the trading center of a large farming section to the north as the Wabash railroad had not been built and the village of Orland Park was not in existence. Mokena being the nearest railroad point it drew a lot of outside trade, but with the construction of the Wabash railroad in the 80's, Orland and Alpine sprang up and Mokena started showing a decline in business and reached a very low ebb in 1900, but from 1903 on it has staged a decided come back and has kept pace with the times in improvements and now enjoys all modern conveniences and is getting a reputation as a fine residential spot. Within the past few years quite a number of modern homes have been built with more in view.

HAY PRESS WAS LOCATED AT MOKENA IN 1870

In the 1870's Mokena was a trading center for farmers from a vast territory to the north what is now Orland township and which was then known as "The English Settlement."

A feature which attracted many farmers to Mokena was a hay press which stood just west of the present Rock Island depot.

Richard Hensel, well-known retired druggist of Mokena, remembers when the hay press was in operation. Farmers brought hay in and had it baled and shipped to Chicago. The hay press was operated by horse power and was run in the winter whenever there was a demand for baled hay. This plant was later purchased by Charles Hirsch, who operated a grain elevator here. He had the hay press moved to the present Hirsch Bros., farm on Wolf road at the northern edge of the village.

In those days trucks and autos were unknown in the cities and there was a big demand for hay and grain.

MORRY'S TAVERN

MOKENA

This was one of the leading business places in Mokena about a half century ago, and was conducted by Simon Hohenstein. He did a thriving business as the local representative for a farm equipment manufacturer. In addition, he conducted a tavern (one of the 9) located in the village at that time. Did you recognize the building as the present site of the Dunham Hardware Store?

Mokena Had A Printing Office 75 Years Ago

Mokena had a printing office and weekly newspaper 66 years ago when Charles A. Jones founded the "Mokena Advertiser" in 1874. Mr. Jones was the editor and publisher and published the Advertiser until May, 1877 when he died and the paper was discontinued.

A brother of the deceased publisher carried on a job printing office in the old Advertiser office for some time and then also quit the business.

Mokena was without a local paper and printing office until 1916 when William Semmler opened a printing office in an old historic landmark known as the old Martin Heim place built by Mr. Semmler's grandfather. In 1919 The News-Bulletin was founded and for over 30 years has been in constant operation. The shop now prints three local weekly papers besides a wide range of job work.

IT HAPPENED IN -

(The following news items are from a scrap book compiled by the late Mrs. Jennie Stellwagon, sister of Alfred Hatch, and which were clipped from the Mokena column as written by the late William Semmler Founder of the News-Bulletin.)

April 22, 1911—Mokena Shows Increase in Population. Much interest is centered in the official government census report as appearing in the press the past week. According to the 1900 census, Mokena had a population of 281 and in 1910, 359.

Nov. 11, 1911—Tuesday morning the vault door of the Mokena State Bank was received by freight from the Victor Safe and Lock factory at Cincinnati, Ohio and the next day an expert placed the door in the vault. The watchmen have been relieved of their duties.

Nov. 11, 1911—The Frauen Verein of St. John's church, at a meeting Sunday afternoon voted to have a well drilled in their cemetery.

Jan. 28, 1909—There was a big crowd at the dance held in Liess hall Saturday night. From the general appearance of those present one would naturally think there were genuine hard times in the community. Tickets cost 23c, wall paper being used for this purpose.

Taken from the Homer column, Oct. 9, 1912—One of the interesting relics of other days at the old settlers' meeting in Joliet a few days ago, was a piece of writing paper made in Ohio by Eve Thatcher, wife of James Ritchey of Kingston, Ohio, 91 years ago. On the slip of paper was a statement of account by a storekeeper dated October 18, 1830. On it were such items as, "one bottle brandy, 19 cents; 3 1-4 yards calico at 25 cents per yard; one pair shoes, fine, $1.88, one penknife, 12 1-2 cents, etc. As explained by Mrs. Reed, the use of liquor there was not frowned upon. Mr. Reed states that liquor in those days was not injurious as it is now. The sort put on the market fifty years ago was oily and rich and would not mix with water readily.

Mokena, Nov. 12, 1912—The Mokena Sunbeam Camp 6054 of the Royal Neighbors celebrated their third anniversary Thursday. Mrs. George Marti Sr., oracle, entertained the members in her home. Miss Gladys Marti sang a solo composed by Neighbor Stellwagen. Mrs. Wm. H. Bechstein read a paper reviewing the history of the camp. . . . Misses Jennie Liess and Alma Bechstein played several piano selections. In connection with the anniversary celebration, the birthday of Mrs. John Helenhouse (of Orland) was also celebrated.

Allen Denny Served in War Of 1812 at Buffalo

In the beginning of the Mokena region early settlers located in the upper Hickory Creek timber east of what was known as "Van Horn's Point." In 1831 a Mr. Osborn, Wm. Moore, Robert Williams, Aaron Ware, John McGovney and sons, John McDeed, a Mr. Ghost, and a Mr. Berry, who soon turned Morman settled here. Along in 1834-35 Allen and Lysander Denny located here.

A child of John McGovney, John W., was said to have been the first child born in the county. John McGovney came from Ohio and came to this region where he settled in 1831. He died in March 1869, aged 61 years. An addition to Mokena is part of his farm.

Allen Denny on the north side of Hickory Creek and Samuel Haven on the south kept stations on the underground railroad in Anti-slavery time. A midnight ride with one or two fugitives was an exciting thing in those days, not without danger of being prosecuted at least.

Allen Denny settled in Sheridan, Chautauqua County, New York in 1811 when 20 years of age. While there he engaged in storekeeping and among other goods, wares and merchandise, sold whiskey. He went to hear a lecture by an agent of a State Temperance Society and was converted to teetotalism. He at once stopped the sale of liquor and with five others, one of whom was Samuel Haven, he formed a temperance society.

In 1835 he came with the Holmes families to Hickory Creek where he lived until his death. In the war of 1812 he was a soldier and was present at the battle of Black Rock and the burning of Buffalo, New York, and could give graphic accounts of the stampede of the militia.

The Rock Island railroad was run thru Mr. Denny's farm and he laid off part of the farm into the present village of Mokena. There is no date of Mr. Denny's death. He had a brother, Lysander Denny who died in March, 1872 at the age of 75.

First R. I. Freight Unloaded Here

The story has often been told by old settlers in the Mokena region that after the Rock Island railroad was built thru Mokena in 1852, the first freight shipped over the road was consigned to Ambrose Doty and Isaac Francis and consisted of a couple carloads of lumber. There were no stations and when the railroad men asked where they should put it off, they were told anywhere in the township, so they unloaded the lumber near the present village of Mokena.

Miss Margaret Mary Cruise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cruise, Sr., South Cedar Road, and Francis Kenne, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kenne of Campus, Ill., were married Saturday morning, August 13, at 6:30 mass in St. Jude's Catholic church, Rev. Reynolds Kline officiated at the double ring ceremony, that was witnessed by only the immediate families.

The bride was attired in a white summer suit, a white picture hat, and white accessories. Her corsage was of white gladioli centered with a pink rose.

The highlight of the well-attended Parkside Veterans' meeting August 11th was the speech given by Mrs. Margaret Semmler, editor of the Tinley Park Times, who discussed problems of community life and newspapers. Mrs. Semmler related many interesting facts about the beginning of the paper and impressed upon all was the fact that the Times is our paper. Mrs. Semmler urged us to contribute news. This speech was the first in a series of talks to be given by influential townsmen at these meetings.

Advance sale of tickets for the Parkside picnic to be held August 21 at the Tinley Park forest preserve indicates the affair will be a huge success. About 100 tickets already have been sold. Those who have their own card tables are asked to bring them since there will be a shortage of tables at the picnic grove. The Recreation Committee is trying to secure a loudspeaker or public address system for the occasion. There will be games and favors for children, a door prize for adults, and beer and pop for all.

Irwin Larson, secretary of this association, has announced that 26 homeowners in Parkside have already expressed a desire to order storm windows through the George Green Lumber company. He reminds the homeowners that the more orders this company gets, the better the price that will be set on these windows.

A petition to the Public Service company will be drafted before next meeting to urge installation of street lights in Parkside. These lights were ordered by the village board some time ago, but have not been delivered. Many members of this organization were concerned about the condition of the roads in Parkside. Mrs. Rose Brown, village president, reported the village road fund is presently depleted. An estimate of the cost of improving these roads will be discussed by the village administration at the next board meeting. The association voted to cooperate with the village administration in cleaning the village hall. This hall is in such poor condition, said Mrs. Brown, that people are ashamed to invite guest speakers to give talks. When the time comes to work on the hall, Parkside veterans have expressed their willingness to donate their labor and talents.

Street signs will soon be posted on the Parkside roads. Supplementary signs regarding children will be available very soon for the roads. A committee has been appointed to plan a float to be entered in the Tinley Park parade on September 5. The first meeting in September will concern the election of officers and committee chairman for the forthcoming year. Come to the meeting August 25 with ideas about the appointment of a nominating committee. Nine new members joined the association at the last meeting.

Mokena's brightest time of the year starts tomorrow night with the semblance of a miniature fair, when the tenth annual Homecoming celebration opens for a three day stand. Friday, Saturday and Sunday are packed with entertainment and exhibits planned by the Homecoming committee, which this year consists of members of the Mokena Civic association, the Volunteer Fire department, the local VFW post and the VFW auxiliary.

Members of all organizations have worked hard for the past two months planning free acts, many exhibits and the big parade scheduled for 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Front street will be blocked off to traffic to enable homecomers and guests to roam freely up and down the street looking at the many interesting exhibitions, and to ride on one of the five rides which will arrive in Mokena sometime Friday morning.

The big list of free entertainment is given on another column of this page, and the many citizens named as workers have already reported to their chairmen and are ready to help make this gala event a success.

According to word received here as late as Wednesday morning, the Homecoming committee is to expect the biggest crowd of people ever to congregate on Mokena's Front street.

For the kiddies' enjoyment, the committee has arranged to have a real clown on the grounds throughout the celebration.

Paul Wilson, chairman in charge of the parade, states that there are many floats and organizations signed up for the gigantic street parade Sunday.

Many of the business men from Mokena as well as surrounding communities will display their ware, farm machinery being the most prominent among them. A gorgeous gladioli exhibit will be something to attract flower lovers. One will also be enabled to view many exhibits of historical nature, one being a register from the old Pacific hotel, starting in November, 1876. The location of the hotel is not known at this time, although some say it was located at the site of Pfeiffer's store while others are sure that it was located at the site of the Clover Farm store. Still others said that the Pacific hotel burned and was located where the Helenhouse blacksmith shop now stands. Anyone knowing the exact location of this hotel please bring the information to the News-Bulletin booth at the homecoming.

Another historical exhibit of interest will be the display of programs for concerts given long ago. One can also view the complete files of the News-Bulletin, over thirty volumes of news.

All readers please accept this cordial invitation to come to Mokena on any or all of these nights, meet old friends and get in the spirit of the Homecoming and enjoy yourself.

More For Your Money—

This issue marks the start of the 32nd year since the founding of the Semmler Newspapers. It was 31 years ago last week that William Semmler of Mokena started the News-Bulletin. From its first small issue it "took hold" and the public in the surrounding territory liked it, for who, except William Semmler would even give a second thought to a newspaper in this area.

But "Bill" could see far ahead, and in the face of the comments by those who were considered better newspaper men than he stating that it couldn't possibly last long, he worked and planned and perspired so that these communities could be represented by the press.

Since the start of the Semmler Newspapers, each year found an improvement, either in equipment to make the work of getting out a paper easier, or new type to better the appearance of the sheet. This year is no exception. The Semmler Newspapers has added a column to each page, giving readers and advertisers more space for their use—more reading matter, more news—more pictures, and more space for feature articles and news of your friends.

We, of the staff of the Semmler newspapers, are proud of this first edition of a bigger size, and welcome any comments from time to time as to suggestions for the improvement of YOUR paper, for no matter who owns the equipment and who is the boss, the paper belongs to its most important people—the subscribers and advertisers. For without either one of you any newspaper would be short lived. And how thankful we are that we are privileged to publish the Semmler newspapers each week in America, for here in this country we and the citizens have the right to free press and free speech.

We are, however, regretful that William Semmler is not here to see this big improvement in the News-Bulletin, Tinley Park Times and the Orland Park Herald, for we know how pleased he would be to give subscribers and advertisers more for their money.

Friends of Agriculture

(Farm Journal)

If a person wishes to enjoy the good opinion of other people, the first requirement always is that he shall deserve their good opinion. No matter how favorably he talks about himself, or gets others to talk, he will have trouble with his "public relations" unless his actions speak clearly for him.

Our biggest corporations pay large sums to public relations counsel. They are always told that if they expect to enjoy public esteem, their policies and acts must first be shaped so that facts will justify the public's good will.

Agriculture is no different. Millions of city people today think that farm subsidy programs help to make both their taxes and their food prices high. They express their resentment freely.

From now on farmers will be greatly outnumbered by city voters. Public misunderstanding can easily lead to a time when consumers will not listen to even a half-fair deal for farmers.

Might it not be wise for agricultural leadership to determine to remove the principal cause of resentment? Would it be feasible to set a date, say 1955, after which only sound, non-subsidy farm legislation will be supported? That would allow time to make changes, and time to develop and test better plans.

Many reasons could be urged for the good of farmers and for the good of the country in behalf of such a decision. It would clear the way for creating a friendlier consumer public very soon, if the intent were strongly announced. Does the idea appeal to you?

New Drug Increases Lung Capacity Fifty Percent; Prevents Asthma

A new drug, Orthoxine Hydrochloride, has been produced which acts as a preventive for asthma. The drug has been clinically tested on more than 1,000 patients. Hospital tests showed it can increase vital lung capacity by more than fifty percent when taken after the onset of an asthmatic seizure.

If taken at the beginning of an attack, the drug will prevent asthmatic constriction in eighty percent or more cases.

Developed by Upjohn Company medical researchers after nine years of research, the new drug does not stimulate the central nervous system, raise the blood pressure, cause insomnia, irritability or nervousness, characteristics associated with ephedrine, the drug most commonly used until now in asthma treatment.

Medical reports show that Orthoxine, in addition to being a major boon for millions of asthma sufferers, may also offer relief to those afflicted with allergies caused by dust, feathers, and pollen.

Scripture: Psalms 8; 19:1-6; 65:9-13; 104.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Job 37: 14-24.

Every atom of the universe, said Calvin, sparkles with the glory of God. That is our thought for this week: In the created universe we can see the God who is more wonderful than all his works. The selected Psalms express four different aspects of God's creative power. Psalm 8 brings out the dignity and the glory of man, made to be master of the earth; Psalm 19:1-6 listens to the majestic music of sun and stars; Psalm 65:9-13 sees nature as a farmer sees it, in terms of sun, rain and crops; Psalm 104, one of the noblest poems in existence, celebrates God's glory in all things great and small.

Mystery

These inspired Psalmists saw a high truth: Nature is for man's use, in part, but also has a value, a beauty and a splendor all its own; and it is one of the ways by which we can know God. What is true of nature is true, far more, of the God who created all things. One of the thoughts suggested to their minds was the mystery of nature.

LAST LAP FOR THE AIRLIFT—The Allied airfield at Celle, Germany, is the first to close down operations as the renowned Anglo-American airlift goes into the last stages. Here, a German worker uses a kerosene spray to clean off dust from the nose wheel of a C-54, accumulated during the 400 days of the "coldest" war to date. Everywhere, planes are made ready for the return trip to the U. S.

Even today, with all that science has discovered, there is mystery in the most elemental facts of existence. What is light? What is life? What is energy? Where did it come from and what is the destiny of it all? A common grass blade performs miracles that chemistry has not yet imitated. The mystery of nature suggests that deeper mystery of nature's God.

Power

We are beginning now to realize even better than the Psalmists could, how much energy there is in nature. We have seen tragic evidence of the atom's power. Now we have also found that while energy cannot be destroyed, it cannot be created by us, though it constantly changes form.

As the water in a power station which has run through a turbine will not climb back up Not turn the turbine again, so the whole universe (they tell us) is in the process of running down.

Beauty

The writer of the Psalm 104 was well aware that some parts of nature are useless to man; but he rejoiced in them none the less. Few of his neighbors had any use for whales, for example, but he takes delight in the whale (he calls him Leviathan) just playing the ocean. St. Augustine, in the same moods, says somewhere about things like wasps and spiders that if we could forget that they bite, we would be greatly awed by their beauty and the perfection of their mechanism. Indeed, St. Augustine, in one of his prayers, calls God "Pulchritudo," Beauty. Just as God is Truth and The Good, so he is The Beautiful.

Law

The writers of these nature-Psalms (especially 19 and 65) were impressed by another fact about nature: its regularity. You can count on the sunrise, you always know which order the seasons will follow. Even things like earthquakes and tornadoes, which seem pretty unpredictable, follow laws of their own. Science has now shown this to be true on a cosmic scale. The stuff of which the farthest stars are made is just the same (only a lot hotter) as the stuff in the rocks under your feet at this minute.

The laws that govern the fall of a leaf or the shape of raindrop are the same laws that can be seen in the whirling of star-dust fifty million light years away.

The Creator of all is not erratic, eccentric or capricious. He is the God of Love, for from his infinite Mind come all the patterns, known to us or yet unknown, by which the vast fabric of the universe is woven. Mystery, Power, Beauty, Law! All nature, not only the stars, shine with all these—and as Addison says, "Forever singing as they shine."

The hand that made us is divine." (Copyright by The International Council of Religious Education on behalf of 40 Protestant denominations. Released by WNU Features.)

Local Students Win Entrance to YMCA Camp at University

Ramon Schifler of Frankfort, Ill. and Thomas G. Schneckepeter, 3631 East 216th Place, Matteson are two of the first 150 who have been accepted for admittance to the University of Illinois YMCA Freshman Orientation Camp, Tom Moore, student chairman in charge announced.

Freshman Camp has been sponsored annually by the University YMCA since 1926, and will be held this year at Camp Seymour, located some 10 miles outside of Decatur, Illinois from September 12 to 15, he said.

While registration for the camp is open to all men who have received admittance to the University of Illinois, special efforts are made to make it available to the most deserving high school graduates," Moore pointed out.

The purpose of the camp is to better acquaint freshmen men, who are entering the University in the fall with the different aspects of the campus life before they begin their complicated transition from high school to college life.

Through the guidance of campus leaders, these freshmen are given direction on these different aspects: spiritual, professional or technical, and physical (housing).

Faculty advisors, including Deans Fred H. Turner and Edward Stafford, and Coaches Ray Elliot and Harry Combes, also attempt to give each individual the information he desires ranging from such questions as "How can I receive financial aid?" to "How should I study?"

Traditionally the camp has been restricted in size to 150 for effective work with the individuals. Moore pointed out, "Because so much pressure has developed this year due to overwhelming camp registration, the committee is seriously considering a second camp to run simultaneously with Camp Seymour and serve an additional 150," he concluded.

FLOWERS TO THE LIVING

A Presentation of a Bouquet to Albert Braun, Resident

One of the "old timers" in Mokena is Albert Braun, the "village blacksmith" for over 45 years at the same location on front street. Not only has he been one of the village's oldest business men, but served the village as an elected officer on the board of trustees. He was elected to the village board in 1912 and served continuously until 1945.

In his blacksmith shop one can find many interesting articles to collectors of antiques. This 70 year old man has standing at the side of the room an ancient coffee mill, a relic of one of Mokena's old grocery stores. It is over 80 years old, according to Mr. Braun. It is still in working order, and he says that he occasionally grinds corn for chicken feed and when the fall of the year comes around he grinds some corn meal for good old-fashioned "Johnny cake," which is a treat with rich, sweet sorghum syrup.

His shop is full of hand-made tools, and he still has some hand made horse shoe nails and the small anvil used to "point" them with, which was made in 1836. Even to be found in the old blacksmith shop are some old oxen shoes, all hand wrought. Though he modernized his forge some years ago, he still has the old bellows, which he says is in working condition.

Although he stopped shoeing horses some two years ago, one sees a big stock of horse shoes hanging from the ceiling of his shop. Often he has calls for them and always finds the right size. Now there are a few blacksmiths who travel from farm to farm taking care of the trade when a farmer wants his horse shod.

The blacksmithing business around the country is rapidly approaching extinction. So as a result Mr. Braun receives work from as far as Aurora, Ill., and from many towns in this area.

An interesting side light that stands in good stead for Mr. Braun's memory is the fact that he has a mental plan of the village so that he can tell any property owner just where his water mains are located. Many times some of the newer members of the village board ask him questions that save them much time in searching out information.

Mr. Braun, though getting up in years, has a sharp mind and one can listen for hours to the priceless stories he has on the history of the village of Mokena.

Away back in 1912 at election time Mr. Braun's opponents were so sure of being elected that they traveled to Chicago and came back with a suitcase full of tin horns to celebrate their election. When the "Braun" faction beat them three to one, the horns were given away to the children who promptly used them to "serenade" the defeated candidates at their homes.

Propose Program To Prevent Damage To State Highways

CHICAGO, ILL.—A constructive four-point program to prevent further damage to Illinois streets and highways, proposed by the organized truckers of the state, is in the hands of Governor Stevenson (July 21, 1949).

Chester G. Moore, Chairman of Central Motor Freight Association, representing the big trucking firms, addressed a letter to the governor this week in which he offered the cooperation and aid of the motor truck industry, in driving overloaded trucks from the roads, and proposing a permanent program to safeguard the highways from further deterioration.

The truckers' proposal outlined:

1. Immediate joint action by the Highway Department, State Police, and trucking industry, to enforce highway and truck laws.

2. To initiate within the trucking industry an educational and self-policing program, which would include the signing of pledges to conform with state statutes.

3. Formation of an action committee representative of commercial highway and street users to cooperate with the state on all matters pertaining to trucks.

4. Employment by the truckers of a qualified highway engineer to conduct a program of research and surveys to determine responsibility of damages.

Moore stated to the Governor: "There is no question that illegally overloaded trucks are one cause of highway damage. These habitual overloads are in most cases, operators who violate all business ethics, and are just as much an enemy to the legitimate truck operators as they are to the State of Illinois."

"Our industry knows usually who the major violators are and we have ideas on how to apprehend them. We sometimes know instances of where collusion between police and truck operators substitutes for law enforcement. We are prepared to cooperate fully with the State Police, primarily by making our information available."

The truckers' engineer would be available for full cooperation with the Highway Department, Moore stated:

"We do not wish to evade the responsibility for highway damage where such responsibility is clearly ours. At the same time it is unfair to be charged with damage for which we are not responsible. Our engineer will help us determine the facts and will provide us with factual research necessary so that we may speak authoritatively."

He asked for immediate approval by the governor to set the program in motion.

UDDER INJURIES IN DAIRY COWS HELP CAUSE MASTITIS

A University of Illinois veterinarian says it's common sport to send the dog after cows that won't go to the barn for milking. But it's also a costly sport when it leads to mastitis.

Dr. M. E. Mansfield of the College of Veterinary Medicine states that a cow's udder is easily injured, Running a cow often causes bruises which help to give mastitis germs a good start.

WHERE THE TALL CORN GROWS—Carol Pohl, 17-year-old Mendota, Ill., farm girl, stands on a ladder but still fails to reach the top of an 11-foot cornstalk. Carol was crowned queen of the Sweet Corn Festival, which attracted thousands to Mendota, the Midwest's "corn capital."

Most injuries of cow's teats and udders can be prevented, the veterinarian says. Some other causes of injuries are insufficient bedding, trash piles in the barn yard or pasture, rough milking, leaving the milker on too long, and short, crowded stalls.

If your a dairyman, you can help to prevent mastitis by removing the causes of injuries where possible. And train your dog. A well-trained dog will get your cows to the barn without running them.

DOES BOTH JOBS
CHOPS GREEN OR CURED HAY
CUTS ENSILAGE IN THE FIELD
Reduce your feed-harvesting costs . . . take the labor-saving short-cut by preparing silage with a field-proved John Deere Forage Harvester. Equipped with an efficient windrow pick-up attachment, the John Deere becomes a dependable hay chopper for chopping green or field-cured hay. With the fully-proved, row-crop attachment, it converts to a one-man ensilage harvester—to make ensilage from standing row-crops. The harvester is simple in construction and operation . . . does the work in a direct manner with a minimum of lost motion. All crops are handled in the same way—passed onto the feed rolls . . . fed into the efficient flywheel-type cutter which cuts the material to the proper length . . . then blown out the delivery spout to the wagon.
Fully adaptable to meet varying field and crop conditions, the John Deere functions equally well as a hay chopper or field ensilage harvester. See us soon for details.
